

Australian Salaried Medical Officers'
Federation

Are you passionate about doctors being treated fairly at work?

Nominations for Branch Council positions across Australia are opening imminently, and ASMOF Federal Council is strongly encouraging applications from any of our members who would like to get more involved in their Union.

ASMOF is a democratic union and it is important that our Union's leadership structures reflect the full diversity of our membership. Please note that no specific experience is required for this role, and you will be supported by your Union Branch to fulfil your responsibilities as a Union Councillor.

These responsibilities include the opportunity to:

- Determine Union priorities and direction
- Ensure that the Union is addressing the workplace concerns of members
- Strategise to enhance the Union's effectiveness in the workplace
- Review and improve internal Union rules and policies.

Each Branch Council determines the frequency & method of their meetings. We seek to reduce barriers to participation for our members with caring responsibilities or who may face other barriers to participation. Please contact your local Branch to discuss any concerns you have around attendance.

Election details

Nominations are opening on 1 March 2024 and close 5pm (AEDT) on 22 March 2024.

A wide range of positions on Branch Councils are open for nomination including Branch President, Vice-President, Assistant Secretary/Treasurer and Secretary, as well as Councillor positions: Medical Officers, GP Registrars, Staff Specialists and others. Please see the Election Notice for the full details.

You can download the Notice for the Election here and the Nomination Form will be available from the AEC and here from 1 March. Please lodge your nominations to the AEC, not ASMOF (details enclosed in 'Notice').

If you want to find out more about being an ASMOF Councillor before nominating, please contact your local Branch.
